

Flea, Tick & Heartworm Prevention for Puppies - Free shipping | Chewy

When you bring a little one into your home, it's important to gather all the puppy home essentials required to set her up for a long and healthy life. That includes puppy grooming and supplements, puppy potty & training and preventative care. Puppy preventative care includes flea treatment for puppies. Flea and tick medications are typically not safe to use on puppies under seven weeks of age, but once your pup is of age, it's important to start her on flea medicine for puppies. At Chewy.com, you'll find flea and tick treatment for puppies starting at six weeks. It's important to check the weight requirement of any flea treatment for puppies before giving it to your little one. For puppies eight weeks of age and older, consider NexGard chewables for dogs weighing four or more pounds. The fast-acting formula provides safe and effective year-round protection when given to the puppy monthly. The chewable tablet is disguised as a tasty treat for easy administering to your puppy. If you prefer a flea collar, consider the Seresto flea & tick prevention collar for small dogs seven weeks or older and up to 18 pounds. It starts to repel and kill fleas within 24 hours of the initial application. In addition to being uncomfortable for your puppy, fleas can lead to tapeworm, a dangerous parasite. For flea prevention, vets recommend puppy grooming regularly. Regularly run a flea comb throughout your puppy's coat to catch fleas. Look for flea dirt, little black specks found on a dog's belly or around her tail. In addition to flea treatment for puppies, your little one will require other puppy supplies to be healthy and happy. Feed your puppy food and treats with the added nutrients she needs. The best puppy food is especially formulated for growing puppies. If your pet isn't getting what she needs through food, consider puppy vitamins. Your puppy will need to be trained to go for walks to get exercise and do her business. There are many puppy collars to choose from, so you can find the perfect fit and style for your pup. Puppies love to play. Make sure to treat yours to puppy toys to keep her mind and body stimulated. Find everything you need for your new puppy at Chewy's online pet store.

Can I get heartworm prevention medicine for puppies without a vet?

You cannot get heartworm prevention medicine without a vet. Heartworm medication for dogs and cats is by prescription only. Your pet will need to undergo heartworm testing before beginning heartworm prevention medication because the medicine can be dangerous in pets who already have heartworms. Do not give your pet any heartworm medication without seeing a vet first.

Can you give a puppy heartworm and flea prevention medicine at the same time?

You can give puppies heartworm and flea prevention medicine at the same time, and many combination products are very popular with puppy parents. Talk to your vet about appropriate heartworm prevention and flea treatment medication for your puppy.

What are the best heartworm preventions for puppies?

The best heartworm preventions for puppies should be discussed with and prescribed by your veterinarian. Many heartworm preventatives are safe to use in puppies as young as 6 weeks of age, but only a vet can recommend and prescribe the right medication for your pet. Your vet may need to perform a heartworm test before beginning medication, as well.

What are the best flea and tick treatments for puppies?

The best flea and tick treatment for puppies over 8-12 weeks old are usually topical prescription preventatives that provide continuous protection. For puppies too young for topicals and other treatments, frequent baths and flea combing may be the best way to prevent and control fleas. Talk to your vet about the best way to protect your puppy from fleas, ticks and other parasites.